CHUCK TANNER

Field Manager

Charles William Tanner, 46, took over the reins of the Chicago White Sox at the waning days of the 1970 season. He inherited a club that had not only lost 106 games that season, but a club which was 88 games below the .500 mark for the preceding four seasons. During this period the Sox averaged 716,078 fans per season at home. After four years under his command, the Sox are seven games above the .500 mark and have averaged 1,125,008 fans per year. In his rookie managerial season (1971), he guided the Sox from the cellar of the American League to a third place finish. In 1972, he finished with the second best won-lost record in the American League to the Western Division and World Series Champions from Oakland. His accomplishments in only two seasons were widely recognized in professional baseball. He was named 1972 Major League Manager of the Year by The Sporting News and American League Manager of the Year by The Associated Press. He began building his 27-year professional baseball background in 1946 after earning 10 letters in baseball, basketball, and football at Shenango High in New Castle, Pa., where he currently resides during the off-season with his family. He was captain of the latter two sports in his senior year. After American Legion ball he was signed to a pro pact by Jack Reider of the Boston Braves. He was named on the 1949 Western League All-Star Team and led the league in hits (195) in 1950. The next year he hit safely in 29 consecutive games for Atlanta in the Southern Association (Class AA). As a rookie with Milwaukee Braves in 1955 he became the second player in major league history to hit a home run on the first pitch in his first time at bat. He was Milwaukee's Rookie Player of the Year that season, and in his sophomore season had the unique distinction of hitting a pinch hit home run for Hank Aaron. In 1959, he led the American Association (Class AAA) in doubles (41) and was named to the All-Star Team. In 1968, he was voted Texas League (Class AA) Manager of the Year and Co-Manager of the Year in the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) in 1970.

JOHN SAIN

Pitching Coach

John Franklin Sain, Jr., 56, for the 15th time in 13 years of coaching pitchers in the major league, has produced 20-game winners. Last season, Wilbur Wood and Jim Kaat passed the magic number of victories. It was the fourth consecutive time for Wood under Sain's guidance and the second time for Kaat. Jim had his only other season with 20 wins in 1966 when he won 25 for Sain while they were at Minnesota. The other pitchers with two 20-win seasons under Sain are Whitey Ford in 1961 and 1963 and Denny McLain in 1968 and 1969. Other 20-game winners, who are among the many acclaiming Sain as the best pitching coach in baseball, are Ralph Terry (1962), Jim Bouton (1963), Mudcat Grant (1965), Earl Wilson (1967), and Stan Bahnsen (1972). While Sain was with Detroit, Mickey Lolich once said Sain knows "more about winning a baseball game than any man I know." As a pitcher in his playing days, Sain equalled or topped the 20 mark four times with the Boston Braves. In 17 years as a professional pitcher, he posted a .500-plus won-loss percentage 12 seasons. He pitched in four World Series (2-2, 2.64) and two All-Star Games. He was named NL's Top Pitcher of the Year in 1948 when he led the league with 24 victories. In an exhibition game in 1943, John was the last man to pitch to the famous Sultan of Swat, Babe Ruth. Another highlight in John's baseball career came in 1947 when he was the first major league pitcher to pitch to the first black player in the major leagues, Jackie Robinson. Sain also will be long remembered for his 1-0, four-hit victory over Bob Feller in the 1948 World Series opener in which the famous pickoff play involving Cleveland's Lou Boudreau and Boston's Phil Masi occurred. John's hobbies are auto mechanics and hunting.

AL MONCHAK

First Base Coach

Alex Monchak, 55, joined the White Sox with Chuck Tanner in 1971. He is an excellent first base coach and an outstanding infield instructor. As a second baseman during his 18 years of professional baseball, he led the Longhorn League in putouts (402), assists (455) double plays (109) while playing with Odessa. In 1950, he led the same loop with 48 SB's, 450 PO's, 388 A's, 140 DP's, and a .969 fielding average. His best fielding average was recorded in 1955 when he led the Pony League with a .977. He has nine other league high marks in fielding during his brilliant minor league playing career. A serious injury in the minors and a lengthy brilliant tour of military duty in Europe during World War II curtailed the possibilities of an excellent major league playing career. He led the Longhorn and Tar Heel Leagues five consecutive years in assists and recorded the highest fielding average in four straight seasons. During 13 years as a minor league manager, his teams finished in first place four seasons.

JOE LONNETT

Third Base Coach

Joseph Paul Lonnett, 47, is beginning his fifth season as a member of the White Sox coaching staff. He is not only an adept signal relayer on the third base line but is affectionately regarded as the "best fielding third base coach in baseball" by sports scribes. He also is the team mentor for the catching corps. He spent four of his 16 years as a catcher with the Philadelphia Phillies. In the minor leagues, he led the Pony League catchers in 1948 with 79 assists while playing with Bradford. In 1950 he paced his peers in the Three-I League with 779 putouts and with a .985 fielding average. His hobby is photography.

JIM MAHONEY

Bullpen Coach

James Thomas Mahoney, 40, is beginning his fourth season as a Sox coach. Tanner selected "Moe" to join his staff for his instructional ability and his ability to relate to the young players. Mahoney was an outstanding gloveman during his 16 years as a player at the shortstop and second base positions. For example, in his first full season as a professional, Jim led the Appalachian League shortstops in all defensive categories and in 1960 he led American Association shortstops while at Minneapolis in total chances (743), assists (507), and double plays (90). He also led the Appalachian League in runs scored (101) in 1954. During his major league career, Jim played with Boston (the original signers), Washington, Cleveland, and Houston. His hobbies are golf, swimming, and bowling.

GLEN ROSENBAUM

Batting Practice Pitcher & Coach

Glen Otis Rosenbaum, 38, joined the White Sox as a batting practice pitcher in 1968 after hurling in the Sox minor league system for 11 years. He was added to the Sox coaching staff in 1974 and will continue to chart the hitting and pitching of the Sox and its opponents. He lost only one game in four years of high school baseball and only 8 while winning 30 in his first two years of professional ball. He led Mississippi-Ohio Valley League in won-lost (15-3) percentage in 1955 with a .833. His 15-5 record in 1956 netted him a berth on the Three-I All Star Team.

PLAYERS

The following format has been used to precede each White Sox player's biographical sketch and career statistics:

ACOSTA, Cy — RHP

5′ 11″ 165 R-R
Born 11/22/46 Sobero, Mex.

Cecilio Acosta (Miranda), 28, recorded the lowest earned run average on the White Sox team in two of the last three years. They were 1.56 in 1972 and 2.23 in 1973. He has a "hopping" fast ball, a good slider, and an excellent changeup. After observing him the first half of the 1972 season at Tucson, the Sox were certain he could help the major league club. Instantly, he proved them correct. Within 12 hours after his arrival, manager Chuck Tanner used him in the top of the ninth inning against New York before 51,904 Sox fans with the Yankees leading 4-2. He held the Eastern Division opponents scoreless, and his teammates rewarded him with a 5-4 victory with a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth. Cy continued to pitch scoreless ball for 10 consecutive innings in later relief appearances to record three victories and one save. In 1974, Acosta was most effective in daylight games as he permitted only one earned run in 19.1 innings of relief work (0.47 ERA) which was by far the best on the team. He was also the most effective pitcher against the Boston Red Sox by allowing only one run in four relief appearances (11.1 innings) for a 0.79 ERA. He was recommended by former Sox scout George Noga.

BAHNSEN, Stan — RHP

6′ 2″ — 203 — R-R
Born 12/15/44 — Council Bluffs, IA

Stanley Raymond Bahnsen, 30, reached the double figures in wins in 1974 for the sixth time of his seven major league seasons. He was most effective against the Baltimore Orioles last year. He won both of his decisions against the O's triumphing 2-1 and 3-1. He pitched a total of 24 innings against the Eastern Division champs, allowing only 16 hits, four earned runs, and fanning nine for a 1.50 ERA. Against the Milwaukee Brewers, he gave up only nine hits and five runs in 17.1 innings for a 2.60 ERA which was low on the Sox team. Bahnsen has come close to a no-hit game several times in the majors. Last season, he retired the first 23 batters he faced on May 15 before Minnesota's Bob Darwin singled with two out in the eighth inning in a game the Sox won 1-0. On August 21, 1973, at Cleveland, Stan had two outs in the bottom of the ninth when Walt Williams, a frequent bunter, bounced a grounder past the indrawn third baseman for a scratch hit to spoil Bahnsen's no-hitter. He won the game 4-0, and he hurled three other shutouts in 1973. One was a unique 12-hitter which exemplifies how tough he can be in clutch situations. In the minor leagues he pitched a 1-0, no-hit victory against Richmond on July 17, 1966, and an 8-0 perfect game against Buffalo on July 9, 1967 (both were seven-inning contests). He began his major league career with New York in 1966 by striking out the side at Boston in the first inning of his major league debut on the mound. In 1968, his first full season, he won 17 games and posted an excellent 2.06 earned run average to win Rookie of the Year recognition. He studied Business Administration at the University of Nebraska before signing a pro pact with Yankee's Joe McDermott. His hobbies are golf, billiards, sketching, trailriding and fishing.

BARRIOS, Francisco — RHP

6′3″ — 195 — R-R
Born 6/10/53 — Hermosillo, Mex.

Francisco Javier Barrios, 21, has an outstanding fast ball which earned him a 10-12 record and a 2.36 earned run average in 1973 at Jalisco of the Mexican League. He also allowed only 157 hits and struck out 158 in 198 innings to earn Rookie of the Year honors. He won nine and lost only five games last season at Knoxville in the Southern League (Class AA). He fanned 84 in 124 innings, and recorded a 3.92 ERA before the White Sox elevated him to the majors for some bullpen work under the tutelage of pitching coach John Sain. He was received from Jalisco along with pitcher Manuel Lugo for infielder Rudy Hernandez. His hobbies are horseback riding, movies, and hunting.

BRADFORD, Buddy — OF

5' 11" — 195 — R-R

Born 7/25/44 — Mobile, AL

Charles William Bradford, 30, is one of those special baseball players who can excel in more than one category. He can hit with power, has a wide range in the outfield, can throw with the best of them, and is an excellent baserunner with speed to spare. He hit .333 with the White Sox last season before he sustained a broken collarbone while making a diving catch on a rain drenched field. He had a .510 slugging percentage which was bested by only three regulars in the American League (Dick Allen's .563, Detroit's Willie Horton's .529, and Oakland's Reggie Jackson's .514). Bradford averaged a home run for each 19 at bats as opposed to the team average of 41-1 and the league average of 48-1. His ratio was better than some well-known sluggers in the league (e.g. Cleveland's Frank Robinson's 22-1, Texas' Jeff Burroughs' 22-1, and Oakland's Sal Bando's 23-1). Buddy, as he is nicknamed, hit .403 against lefties which was tops on the team. He hit best at home (.370) and at night (.348). His .375 against the A's was the team high. He also batted .538 against California, .444 vs. Detroit, and .364 against Baltimore's fine pitching staff. In 1973, he hit a composite of 22 home runs at Iowa (14) in the American Association (Class AAA) and Chicago (8) in only 117 games. Although he played only 53 games for the Sox that season, he drove in 8 winning runs, scored 9 (2nd on team), and tied Bill Sharp for the most outfield assists (10) on the team. On April 25, 1969, Buddy made a permanent mark in the White Sox record book when he became the 12th player to hit a home run on-or-over the double-decked roof of White Sox Park. The first was Babe Ruth in 1927, and the last was Dick Allen on May 1, 1973. At Sarasota in 1963 he led the Gulf Coast League outfielders in assists with 25 and the next season at Tidewater of the Carolina League he paced all outfielders in putouts (247) and tied for the most assists (19). As a prep star he hit .333 and was clocked at 9.7 in the 100-yard dash at San Fernando (Calif.) High. He also broad-jumped and ran 220-yard dash in track in addition to playing baseball and football (Most Outstanding Back). He studied Physical Education at Pierce College in Woodland Hills, Calif. Signed by scouts Hollis Thurston and E. S. (Doc) Bennett.

DENT, Bucky — IF

5' 9" — 170 — R-R

Born 11/25/51 — Savannah, GA

Russell Earl Dent, 23, had one of the finest rookie seasons last year in the history of all White Sox shortstops. He led the American League with 23 sacrifice hits while batting .274. He ranked second among league shortstops with 772 total chances (Gold Glove winner Mark Belanger of Baltimore had 808), with 499 assists (Belanger had 552), and with 251 putouts (Texas' Toby Harrah had 281). He tied Kansas City's Freddy Patek with most double plays for a shortstop (108) as the Sox established a new Club doubleplay record of 188. Dent made only 22 errors for a .972 fielding average. He was the hardest player on the team to strike out (once every 10.22 AB's). These outstanding achievements gained him a berth on the 1974 Major League Rookie All-Star Team. The local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America named him Chicago Rookie of the Year along with Cub third baseman Bill Madlock. Dent ranked 45th in the league in hitting and 6th on the team in hitting and RBI's. Thumbing back through the White Sox annals, it was learned that the three finest shortstops to wear Sox spikes were also 22 years old their rookie seasons. Luke Appling, the most successful batsman in Sox history, batted only .232 in his rookie year (1931) and fielded only .900 after making 42 errors. Luis Aparicio hit .250 and turned 91 double plays in his initial year (1956), but his 35 errors and .954 fielding average does not equal Bucky's fine fielding mark or miscues. Chico Carrasquel hit .282 his first season, but he made 28 errors and his total chances were 58 shy of Dent's 750. In 1974, he was 2nd on the squad in triples (tie with Pat Kelly) and 5th in hits. He averaged grounding into double plays only once in every 55.11 AB's (3rd best on team). Dent was the top batsman on the Sox in July (.309). He led the team in hitting (.368) against Baltimore's fine pitching staff and shared the top rung with Bill Melton by hitting .333 against the Red Sox. Bucky hit .298 in night games in 1974. In 1973 while playing 40 games for the Sox, he handled 101 consecutive fielding opportunities without making an error. In 1972 at Knoxville, he hit .296 and was outstanding afield to gain a berth on the 1972 Southern League All-Star Team. He was voted the "Mr. Hustle" Award by Southern League Sports Writers Association. In 1971, while at Appleton, he led the Midwest League (Class A) in sacrifice bunts (12), and the league shortstops in games (80) and double plays (51). At N. Miami Dade Junior College he was an All-State, All-American at third base and shortstop. At Hialeah (Fla.) High, he played three seasons at third base where he gained All-City, All-County, All-State and Most Valuable Player as a tailback on the football team. His hobby is fishing. He was signed by scout Walt Widmayer.

DOWNING, Brian C-IF-OF

Born 10/9/50 Los Angeles, CA

Brian Jay Downing, 24, worked his way up to the majors as an infielder and outfielder, but he was converted to a catcher last season. He made the transformation successfully, and by the time the season was over, was rated as an outstanding rookie receiver. He only made two errors in 108 games while handling 368 total chances, including 30 assists. He participated in five double plays. and only had four passed balls despite the fact he caught the evasive knuckle ball of Wilbur Wood. Downing is one of the most aggressive players in the league. He challenges fences on defense, bowls over the pivotman at second base to break up double plays, and is tough to budge while blocking the plate. Although during the 1974 season he only played in 108 games, he gained 51 bases on balls to rank fourth on the team. His walks—added to his hits, etc.—gave him an on base frequency of .340 which was the fifth best on the team, and was well above the team average of .327. He has power, and hit an average of one homer for each 29 times at bat to rank third on the squad (a squad which included home run king Dick Allen). The team, which led the American League in home runs in 1974, had an average of 1-for-41 at bats. Downing had a .375 slugging percentage last season (sixth on the team). He led the team with 10 runs-batted-in in April, and batted .364 during the opening month. He hit .368 against Detroit, and struck out only 2 times in 36 appearances against Minnesota. As a prepster, he played guard and was the Most Valuable Player and Captain of the basketball team at Magnolia High in Anaheim, California. He also played tackle on the football squad, but only played one year of varisity baseball until he attended Cypress (Calif.) Junior College. He caught at the latter institution. In his Sox player questionnaire, he listed the thing that most influenced his interest in baseball was attending the 1959 World Series (White Sox vs. Dodgers) at Los Angeles. His hobby is music. He was signed by Sox scouts Doc Bennett and Bill Lentini.

FORSTER, Terry — LHP

6'3" — 190 — L-L

Born 1/14/52 — Sioux Falls, SD

Terry Jay Forster, 23, led the American League with 24 saves and won 7 games in relief to win the 1974 American League Fireman of the Year Award. One of his fast balls was clocked at 94.9 miles per hour on Sept. 7, 1974, to rank him fifth among all major league pitchers clocked, including California's Nolan Ryan and former Cleveland great, Bob Feller. He pitched in 59 games (6th in league) to lead the Sox mound staff. He finished 49 of 58 relief appearances for a team high of 84.5 percent which ranked 5th in the league (A.L. average was 57.4%). He paced the team in strikeouts per nine innings pitched with a 7.05 average which was far above the loop average of 4.91 to rank 6th. He also permitted less home runs per nine innings pitched (0.40) than any Sox hurler to rank 11th in the league (0.71). Terry led the team with a 2.98 earned run average the first third of the season. During that period (52 games) he allowed only 48 hits and struck out 49 in 63.1 innings. Throughout the 1974 season, lefthanded batters only hit .196 against Forster (lowest among Sox hurlers). He was also the most effective Sox pitcher against the Texas squad. He limited the Rangers to only 10 hits and 3 earned runs in 19 innings for a 1.42 ERA. In his four-year major league career following only 10 games in the minors, he has allowed only 18 home runs in 457.1 innings for a nine inning average of only 0.35 home runs. In 1972, he pitched the entire season without allowing a fourbagger. From 1971 into the 1973 season, he hurled a total of 138.1 consecutive innings without relinquishing a roundtripper. This is believed to be a major league record, although statistics of this nature are not maintained. In 1972, he saved 29 games to sever the previous club record of 27 set by Hoyt Wilhelm in 1964. As a prepster, he was selected All-League, Most Valuable, and CIF Player of the Year while playing baseball four years at Santana High in Santee, Calif., and All-League while lettering three years in basketball. In high school Terry played against Bill Walton, who was to become UCLA's great center. Forster also attended Grossmont College in El Cajon, Calif. His hobbies are music, painting and golf. He was the Sox number two draft choice in 1970 after being recommended by scouts George Noga, Jack Keilch, Doc Bennett, and Gary Johnson.

GOSSAGE, Rich — RHP

6′ 3″ — 190 — R-R

Born 7/5/51 Colorado Springs, CO

Richard Michael Gossage, 23, is beginning his third year in the majors although he is only five years out of high school. Using a blazing fast ball, a hard slider, and an occasional changeup, he struck out 64 batters in 89 innings last season for an average of 6.47 K's per nine innings pitched. The ratio ranked second on the team to Terry Forster's 7.05 and 11th in the American League where the average was 4.91. "The Goose," as teammates call him, gave up only four home runs last season for a nine inning average of only .40 which was the lowest on the team and 11th lowest in the league. Oddly, none of the homers were hit by a lefthander. He made more relief appearances (36) than any other righthander in the bullpen. Righthanded hitters managed only 50 hits in 210 at bats for a lowly .238 average against Gossage. Only Bart Johnson (.199) and Cy Acosta (.231) had lower marks on the Sox pitching staff. Rich, as he is more often called, was the Sox most effective pitcher against the World Series Champions, the Oakland A's. In 12.1 innings, he permitted only eight hits and one earned run for a 0.73 ERA while striking out 10. Against Kansas City, he toiled 13.1 innings, gave up eight hits, two runs, fanned 13, and had a 1.35 ERA. He allowed only one hit, no runs, in four innings against Baltimore. Gossage was elevated to the major leagues in 1972 after only 238 innings of rookie and Class A minor league participation. During the brief period, he won 18 while losing only 5 and etched a 2.45 earned run average. He also struck out 191 during this period. Displaying a blazing fast ball, he was put on the major league squad in 1972 and performed admirably by recording a 7-1 record as a long range reliefer. In fact, the only game he lost was the 1972 season finale which he started. If this game was deleted from his season statistics, Gossage would have had a season ERA of 3.39. In his first full season at Appleton (1971), he recorded an 18-2 record with an outstanding 1.83 ERA. He also struck out 149 batters while walking only 50 and relinquishing only 141 hits in 187 innings. This super performance gained him an award as Midwest Minor League Player of the Year. Rich's quickness on the mound also enabled him to lead the Midwest pitchers in assists (48) and double plays (5). During the 1971 Florida Winter Instructional League, he permitted only four runs in 56 innings for a brilliant 0.64 ERA to aid the White Sox contingent in winning its second straight league championship. He was captain and made the prep All-League Team in basketball as well as baseball while playing at Wasson High in Colorado Springs, Colorado. He also attended Southern Colo. State College. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. He was signed by scout Bill Kimball. Rich pitched winter ball for the Ponce Club of the Puerto Rican League.

HAIRSTON, Jerry — OF-IF

5' 10" — 170 — S-R

Born 2/16/52 — Birmingham, AL

Jerry Wayne Hairston, 23, has one of the quickest bats in the Sox organization. He became the first son of a former Sox black player to make the White Sox major league roster when he was elevated to the majors in 1973. Jerry's father, Sam, was a catcher for the White Sox briefly in 1951. In fact, 1973 was quite a year in the Hairston's lives. Jerry was selected as the American Association's Player of the Month in July, and was hitting .347 when he made the big step upward. His dad, now a scout and minor league structor, was named recipient of the first annual Glen Miller Award as White Sox Man of the Year. Jerry had only three and a half years in the minors, therefore, the Sox sent him back to Iowa last Spring although Jerry had hit. 271 in 60 games with the Sox in 1973. He got off to a great start for the Oaks, batting .379 in his first 42 games; including five home runs, two triples, and 10 doubles for a .586 slugging percentage. At this point, he was recalled to service by the Sox as a utility outfielder, bullpen catcher designated hitter, and pinch hitter. He hit .295 at home games in 1974 at White Sox Park. He had a torrid .625 batting average against Cleveland. He had an on base frequency of .336 in 1974 (team average .327) for the Sox, and .382 in 1973 (2nd to Dick Allen's .396). In two seasons, he came to bat in a double play situation 88 times, but hit into a DP only 4 times for the best percentage (0.045) on the team. In 1972, he tied for Southern League lead with nine triples. He is not only versatile at the plate (he's a switch-hitter), but afield as well. Since joining the pro ranks, he has played every defensive position except pitcher. In 1971, he led the Midwest League second basemen in games (121), putouts (260), assists (333), and double plays (77). Jerry led 1970 Gulf Coast League second basemen in games (55). He was selected to Topps Rookie East All-Star Team and 1970 Gulf Coast All-Star Team. At New Castle and Gardendale High Schools he was an all-star shortstop and captain of his team. He studied business administration at Lawson State Junior College. His hobbies are music and travel cars. His favorite spectator sport is auto racing. He was signed by Sox scouts Sam Hairston and Walt Widmayer.

HENDERSON, Ken — OF

6′ 3″ — 190 — S-R

Born 6/15/46 — Manning, IA

Kenneth Joseph Henderson, 28, one of the most complete players in the major leagues, had the best season of his big league career last year. He led the league with 162 games played and paced all outfielders with 462 putouts and 475 total chances. His .987 fielding average was better than all three of the 1974 Gold Glove outfielders (Oakland's Joe Rudi, Baltimore's Paul Blair, and Kansas City's Amos Otis). Henderson hit 20 home runs, drove in 95 runs, and collected 176 hits . . . all career highs. His hits, doubles (35), and RBI's ranked fourth in the American League. His .292 BAvg (3rd on team) was his highest since 1970 (.294). His doubles were the most hit by a White Sox player since Floyd Robinson set the club record with 45 in 1962. Ken's hits are the most by a Sox since Pete Ward rapped 177 safeties in 1963. Henderson compiled 281 total bases to place second in the league to Rudi's 287. Henderson's .467 slugging percentage was fourth in the loop. Both were career highs for the switchhitting centerfielder. He paced the team in a total of eight offensive categories: games, at bats (602), hits, doubles, triples (5), RBI's, bases on balls (66), and sacrifice flies (8). His .308 batting average was best on the Sox team in night games. He played in all 108 of them and hit 16 of his 20 home runs under the bulbs. He was the leading Sox hitter in 1974 against the World Champion Oakland A's (.313) and the Detroit Tigers (.400). Three months he hit over .300 last season. He led the team with 12 runs, 28 hits, and a .359 average in April. In August he hit .321, and paced the squad with 18 RBI's. He batted .302 in September, and his 14 runs scored and 5 homers were tops. He was named the 1974 Chicago Player of the Year by the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Ken was a standout in football and baskeball as well as baseball at Clairemont High in San Diego where he played against Sox Catcher Ed Herrmann. Ken gained three letters in each; was All-League and Captain of the cage unit; and All-City, All-Southern California, and All-CIF on the baseball squad. His father is a scout for the Giants. Ken received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Army Reserve in 1971. His hobbies are golf and tennis. He was originally signed by Giant's George Genovese.

HERRMANN, Ed — C

6' 1" — 210 — L-R

Born 8/27/46 — San Diego, CA

Edward Martin Herrmann, 28, had his second best season of his major league career at the plate last year. He batted .259 which was 18 points over his pre-1974 career average. He also hit 10 home runs to reach the double figures for the fifth consecutivie season. He batted, .423 against the Yankees which was tops for the Sox batsmen. He posted a .313 mark against the Oakland A's to rank second among the regulars. Ed also hit .342 against Detroit and slammed four of his 10 fourbaggers off the Tiger pitchers in Tiger Stadium. He is sometimes called "Sup-Herrmann" by his teammates, but he more often called "Fort Herrmann" by the news media and fans for his ability to block the plate. Many times he has literally stopped the oncharging runner with his strong frame, then caught the ball and made the tag for the out. His greatest asset to the team, however, is his ability to catch the most dreaded pitch for any catcher, the knuckle ball. Wilbur Wood, the greatest knuckleball pitcher in baseball, has pitched 1,390 innings since he became a starter in 1971, and Herrmann has caught over 90% of those innings. Ed led the league in intentional walks with 19 in 1972. He tied the major league record for the most double plays by a catcher in nine innings when he threw out three runners after catching a third strike on July 4, 1972. In 1967, at Evansville of the Southern League, he led all catchers in putouts (693), assists (65), and fielding average (.990). At Crawford High in San Diego, Ed was team captain, Player of the Year, All-CIF, and led league in home runs and RBI's. He also was All-CIF after lettering three years in football as a guard and middle-linebacker. His hobbies are building cars and hunting. He was recommended to the Sox by the late scout Hollis Thurston.

JOHNSON, Bart — RHP

6′ 5″ — 215 — R-R
Born 1/3/50 — Torrance, CA

Clair Barth Johnson, 25, returned to his old form in 1974, and ended the season as one of the most effective pitchers in the American League. In fact, only four starters in the league with over 100 innings pitched had a lower earned run average than Bart's 2.74: Oakland's Jim Hunter (2.49), Cleveland's Gaylord Perry (2.51), California's Andy Hassler (2.61), and Minnesota's Bert Blyleven (2.66). Bart was recalled from Iowa on July 5. Two days later he made it known he was back to stay by hurling a 2-hitter to defeat Detroit 3-1. He struck out nine during the contest which was the beginning of a four-game winning streak. He ended the season with a 10-4 record by winning his last three games. In his last five games, he permitted only three earned runs. He hurled two consecutive shutouts defeating Cleveland 3-0 on Aug. 24 and Boston 3-0 on Aug. 28. He also combined with reliefer Terry Forster to blank California 1-0 on Sept. 5 and Oakland 2-0 on Sept. 20. He displayed good control by walking only 32 in 121.2 innings for an average of only 2.37 per nine innings pitched. In addition to having the lowest ERA on the team for the season, he also recorded a 2.04 while pitching at White Sox Park for the team low at home. He was the most effective pitcher on the team at night, posting a 7-2 won-loss total and a 1.89 ERA under the lights. He fanned more lefthanded batters than any righthanded pitcher on the Sox team. Righthanded batters hit only .199 against Bart, lowest on the staff. In 1969, he led the Midwest League with 200 strikeouts while pitching for Appleton. He was an All-Southern California infielder-pitcher and an All-American basketball player at Torrance (Calif.) High. Many felt he could have played professional basketball if he had pursued the sport through college. He did play one season at Brigham Young University before he signed a professional baseball contract with Sox scouts George Noga and Doc Bennett.

Lee, as he lists as his favorite nickname, by his teammates, led the Iowa Oaks of American Association (Class AAA) last year by hitting 20 home runs and driving in 96 runs in 122 games. His performance gained him a position on the 1974 American Association All-Star Team. He hit .301 with the Oaks, which helped Iowa lead the circuit in batting with a .293 team average, and recorded a fine .345 in his first trip to the majors last September. His RBI total was second in the Southern League (Class AA) and his batting average was fifth. The twinkillings set a new league record for first basemen. In 1972, he was named on the Midwest League (Class A) All-Star Team after leading the league in homers (26), RBI's (89), total bases (227), and first basemen in double plays (78). KAAT, Jim — LHP

Born 11/7/39 — Zeeland, MI

James Lee Kaat, 36, is the winningest active pitcher in the American League. Only Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals has more mound wins (248) than Kaat's 215 among active pitchers in the major leagues. "Kitty," as his teammates call him, was the winningest pitcher on the Sox team last season as he posted a 21-13 record. He won all seven of his last seven decisions, all coming during the month of September. During this period, he pitched a total of 60.2 innings allowing only 36 hits and 2 earned runs for a sizzling 0.31 ERA. He walked only 11 and fanned 45 during the period. His 1974 campaign, added to the 4-1 record he established after joining the club in August of 1973, gives him a 24-14 record as a White Sox. While with Minnesota, also under pitching coach John Sain's tutelage in 1965-6, he had a .500-or-better season 10 of 13 years, and in 1966 he was 25-13 with a 2.74 ERA to earn A.L. Pitcher of the Year honors. During the 1974 season, he struck out 142 batters to increase his career total to 2,009 to pass such mound stalwarts as Amos Rusie 1,953; Hall of Famer Whitey Ford 1,956; Red Ruffing 1,987; and Chicago's own Billy Pierce 1,999. He now ranks 25th on the all-time major league strikeout list. Within his range in 1975 are Dazzy Vance 2,045; Bo-Bo Newsom 2,082; and Grover Alexander 2,198; among others. Jim now has a 3.32 career ERA which ranks 22nd on the all-time major league list of those pitchers with 3,000 or more innings pitched. He hurled 3 shutouts in 1974 and shared 2 combination shutouts with relief ace Terry Forster. Kaat now has a career total of 27 shutouts to rank 10th among active American League pitchers. For the 13th consecutive season in 1974, his opponents have voted Jim to the American League All-Defensive team earning him the Gold Glove Award as the best fielding pitcher in the league. He holds World Series records (series and 9-inning game) for most putouts (5) by a pitcher set on October 7, 1965. He was named on the 1966 and 1962 A.L. All-Star Teams. In 1966, he led the league in wins (25), starts (41), and complete games (19). He tied for loop lead in shutouts (5) in 1962, and led in starts (42) in 1965. He led Pioneer League with 2.99 ERA, 245 strikeouts, 233 IP, 30 starts, 5 shutouts, and tied in CG (15) in 1958. He attended Hope College, Holland, Mich. His hobbies are golf and music.

Kaat (Cont'd)

KILPATRICK, Cleo — OF

Born 3/18/54 — Coweta, OK

Cleo Henry Kilpatrick, 20, is high on the White Sox list of prospective major league stars within the organization. He has a quick bat, is fleet afoot, and has a strong arm. He threw out 12 runners last season which was only surpassed by two other outfilders in the Southern League (Class AA) who had 14 each. He had his highest output of home runs last season when he slammed 11 in 120 games. He has averaged almost 14 stolen bases per season in his three years of professional ball. He was a member of the 1973 Southern League All-Star Team and the 1972 Gulf Coast League All-Star Team. In the latter season he led the loop in total bases (113), games (61), at bats (234), runs (46), home runs (5), and runs-batted-in (38) to gain a berth on Topps Rookie All-Star Team. In 1973, he tied for the Southern League lead in most games played (139). He is a graduate of Washington High in Tulsa, Okla., where he gained All-American All-State, All-City, and Most Valuable Player in Conference. Cleo was also selected for Washington's Best Athlete Award, as he was a All-State tailback on the football team and played as a guard on the basketball unit. His hobby is hunting. He was signed by scout Bruce Andrew.

KUCEK, Jack — RHP

6'2" — 200 — R-R

Born 6/8/53 — Newton Falls, OH

John Andrew Kucek, 21, made the jump from college to the majors, with a brief stop at Appleton in the Midwest League (Class A), in one season. While pitching for Miami (Ohio) University, Kucek displayed an exceptionally hard fast ball. He was drafted by the White Sox in the second round, and sent to Appleton where he quickly proved he possessed a major league fast ball. In five games, he posted a 5-2 record with an outstanding 1.76 earned run average. He struck out 49 and gave up only 33 hits in 51 innings. After being elevated to the majors in August, he won his first decision (a 2-1 contest against Kansas City). His losses were to Texas' Jim Bibby, Oakland's Vida Blue, and two were tough pitcher's battles to the American League strikeout king, California's Nolan Ryan. In one of the mound battles with Ryan, which the Angels won 3-1, a promotion was being held to clock the fast ball of the California ace. The company doing the clocking only recorded six of Jack's tosses, but one of them was caught at 90.4 miles per hour ranking him 15th among all major league pitchers clocked. The personable young pitcher has an outstanding attitude and should become one of the most colorful major leaguers in baseball once he becomes an established player. He is majoring in speech education, and quickly became a favorite interviewee of the news media with his many anecdotes. For example, he says his late Uncle Zeda—who was so influential in shaping Kucek's life—is always with him on the mound. Kucek pitched three years at Miami University, making All-Mid-American Conference his last two seasons. He hurled a no-hitter in the 1974 District 4 NCAA Playoffs which was the first since 1967 and only the third in the district's history. In prep play at Newton Falls (Ohio) High, he played baseball four years, and football and basketball three years. He was All-State, Captain, and Most Valuable Player in baseball; Co-Captain and Most Valuble in football; and All-League as a senior in basketball. After he finishes his career in baseball, he plans to pursue a career as a sports broadcaster. He was signed by scout Pete Milito and was also recommended by Fred Shaffer and Steve Vrablik.

MAY, Carlos — OF

6' 0" — 215 — L-R

Born 5/17/48 — Birmingham, AL

Carlos May, 26, has one of the quickest bats in the American League. Although his average dipped last season, due to several minor injuries which plagued him most of the year, he is potentially a .300 hitter. Manager Chuck Tanner has said several times he believes Carlos will hit .350 before his career is over. Last year, May hit .388 against the Minnesota Twins to pace all Sox hitters. His .333 was second high on the team against the Texas Rangers, perennially his pitching "cousins." In 1973, he rattled the Ranger pitching corps for a .419 and had a phenominal .510 in 1972. May had a .302 average for the month of May in 1974, and his 29 safeties were high for that 31-day period. He was the toughest Sox player for opposing pitchers to get to ground into double plays. In 134 DP opportunities, May hit into a twinkilling only nine times, and in 52 day games he hit into a DP only once. Many experts doubted May, who was named Rookie of the Year in 1969 after batting .281 and hitting 18 homers, would be able to return to major league form after he lost most of his right thumb in a mortar accident while training with the U.S. Marine Corp Reserves. However, after numerous skin grafts and painful post-operative physical therapy, he became so proficient with his new thumb he tied Ken Berry for the league in outfielder assists (13) in 1972. This, plus hitting .308, silenced all doubters for good. He was a member of the 1972 American League All-Star team. He was selected to 1967 Midwest League and 1968 Carolina League All-Star Teams and member of the Topps All Rookie Major League Team in 1969. While at Lynchburg in 1968, Carlos led the Carolina League with a .330 batting average. He is a graduate of A. H. Parker High School in Birmingham, Ala., and attended Southern University at Baton Rouge, La. His brother, Lee, plays with the Houston Astros of the National League. Carlos was signed by Sox scouts Sam Hairston and Walt Widmayer.

MELTON, Bill — IF

6' 1" — 195 — R-R

Born 7/7/45 — Gulfport, MS

William Edwin Melton, 29, has hit 20 or more home runs every full season he has played in the majors since being elevated permanently in 1969. One of these seasons, in 1971 when he added his second straight 33-homer campaign, he became the first White Sox player to lead the American League in home runs. Last year, he hit 21 homers to boost his career total to 139 which passed Minnie Minoso on the all-time White Sox home run list. It took Minoso 1,374 games to hit his 135 Sox four-baggers, while Bill needed only 827 for his prestigious total. Both are impressive when one considers half of the games were played in the spacious confines of White Sox Park. In 1974, Melton shared the team lead in batting against Boston with Bucky Dent (.333), hit .319 against the Yankees, .302 against Kansas City, and .294 against Oakland's fine pitching staff. He was very consistent vs. left (.242) and right (.243) pitching last season. His best month was September (.333) averagewise; but his most productive was July when he batted .294, scored 18 runs, collected 32 hits, slammed 10 home runs, and batted-in 25 teammates. All three of the latter, plus his 64 total bases and .587 slugging percentage, were high for the team. He led the team for the season in being hit by pitched balls (5); and was runnerup in homers, sacrifice flies (6), base on balls (59), and at bats per home runs (24-1). The team—which led the league in home runs (135), total bases (2,168), and slugging percentage (.389) for the first time in its 74-year history—had an AB-HR ratio of 41-1 and the A.L. average was 48-1 which ranked Bill's ratio 11th in the loop. Early in "Belt'n Melt'n's" major league career he proved he had power. On June 24, 1969, in his first full major league season, he stroked three home runs in one game. Although he did not play baseball until college, he lettered in football and basketball three seasons at Durante (Calif.) High. The late Sox scout Hollis Thurston, who has signed many outstanding Sox players, inked the plum of his scouting career when he signed Melton to a pro pact.

MORAN, Bill — RHP

6'4" — 210 — R-R

Born 9-26-50 — Portsmouth, VA

Carl William Moran II, 24, was selected by the White Sox from the Boston Red Sox organization in the Major League Draft of December 1973. General Manager Roland Hemond, Manager Chuck Tanner, and all the major scouts in the Sox organization saw Moran pitch in Sarasota during a break in their organizational meeting. The Sox team was leading the Florida Winter Instructional League at the time, but "Bugs" had the hitters handcuffed with his fast ball and sharp breaking stuff. After being drafted, he joined the major league club after only 71 games in the minors and none above Class A level. The first third of the season last year, he had a commendable 3.92 which was fifth lowest on the staff. Concerned that Moran was not getting enough work, the Sox sent him to Knoxville to finish the rest of the season. There, he maintained an excellent strikeout ratio fanning 41 in 41 innings while walking only 18. In 1973, his 2.73 earned run average was third in the Carolina League (Class A). His 2.03 ERA at Winter Haven in 1972 was third in the Florida State League (Class A). He attended Louisburg Junior College and Jacksonville University where he was majoring in physical education and minoring in business. He earned two letters each in basketball and baseball at college. He was captain of the diamond unit and gained All-American honors as a pitcher. He was also captain of his baseball team at Woodrow Wilson High in Portsmouth, Va., where he lettered three years in baseball (P-OF), football (QB), and basketball (C-F). He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and his hobbies are surfing, fishing, and playing the harmonica and drums. He was recommended to the Red Sox by Mace Brown. "Bugs" pitched winter ball for the Zulia Club of the Venezuelan League.

NYMAN, Nyls — OF

Born 3/7/54 — Detroit, MI

Nyls Rex Nyman, 21, is one of the finest young prospects in the White Sox organization. He led the Southern League (Class AA) last season in batting (.325), hits (166), runs (87), and triples (9) to help Knoxville win the league championship. Nyls was easily the top vote-getter for 1974 Southern League Player of the Year and for the All-Star Team. He also stole 24 bases before being moved up to Iowa of the American Association (Class AAA) for a short stop enroute to joining the White Sox in September. In five games with the major league club, he was fantastic. He made super catches in the outfield, threw out a baserunner for a doubleplay, and drilled nine hits to all fields in 14 official at bats for a .643 batting average. Two of his hits were doubles and one a triple which gave him a chance to display his blazing speed on the basepaths. He also stole a base, scored five runs, and drove in four during his brief major league debut. Prior to his tremendous season at Knoxville, he gained a berth on the 1973 Midwest League (AA) All-Star Team by hitting .315 and stealing 25 bases in 92 games for Appleton. In his first season as a pro, he led outfielders in the Gulf Coast League

Nyman (Cont'd)

(Rookie Class) with 10 assists and three double plays in only 47 games. He was a teammate of Mike Ondina, Sox No. 1 draft choice in 1972, at Rancho Cordova (Calif.) High. As a prep player, Nyls hit. 350 as a junior and .455 as a senior to lead his team to a league championship. He was named on the All-City, All-Delta, and California All-Star Teams in 1972. He also played football in high school. He was signed to a professional baseball contract by Sox scout and former major leaguer Dario Lodigiana.

ORTA, Jorge — IF

5' 10" — 170 — L-R

Born 11/26/50 — Mazatlan, Mex.

Jorge Orta (Nunez), 24, finished second in the American League batting standings in 1974 to Minnesota's Rod Carew's .364. It was Orta's best season since reaching the majors in 1972. He steadily progressed as he learned the English language and the opposing pitchers. "George," as his teammates call him, led the White Sox in one other category: he ground into doubleplays only once each 65.63 times at bat. The team average was 35.98-to-1 and the league average 42.04-to-1. He was within the top four in 11 offensive categories on the 1974 Sox team: Runnerup in hits (166), doubles (31), and on base average (.362, the A.L. average was .320 which ranked him 17th). He was third in slugging (.440, 19th in league), runs (73), RBI's (67), sacrifice flies (6), and stolen bases (9). He was fourth in RBI's per at bats (1 for every 7.81 AB's). Jorge got off to a slow start by hitting only .238 in April, but he found his stride in May and hit over .300 each month thereafter. He batted .411 in June with 24 runs scored and 37 hits to pace the team in all three categories. His 19 runs and 38 hits were tops in August; and his 33 hits, 17 RBI's, and .308 average were high in September. He pounded out a .343 average the second third of the season, and a .323 the final third to pace the squad. His 60 and 70 hits, respectively, were also tops on the team. He also did a good job at second base by handling 610 of 628 chances for a .971 fielding average. Jorge also participated in 94 doubleplays (only three veteran second basemen had more) to share much of the spotlight as the Sox made 188 doubleplays to sever the club mark of 187 set in 1970. Orta collected five hits in three games last season and four in another to come within one hit of tieing the major league record of four 5-hit games set by Willie Keeler (1897), Stan Musial (1948), and Ty Cobb (1922). Jorge hit .349 in day games last season, but hit 8 of his 10 home runs in night contests. He was tops on the team in hitting in foreign parks with a .314 average. He has exceptional speed as verified by the fact he stole 9 of 14 bases. He stole 8 of 10 at White Sox Park. He hit .363 and 9 of his 10 homers against righthanders. Jorge led the team in hitting against the Texas Rangers (.373) and Cleveland Indians (.444). Orta won the Player of the Week Award from the American League, June 17-23, when he had 16 hits, including 4 home runs, for 28 total bases in 31 at bats producing a .516 batting average and a .903 slugging percentage. In his last season in Mexico, he led the Mexican Center League in hitting (.423), triples (7), and slugging (.709) while playing with San Luis Potosi. Later the same season (1971) with Mexicali in the Mexican North League, he batted .362. He is a resident of Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico. His father, Pedro, was known as "the Babe Ruth of Cuba." Jorge was scouted and recommended by George Noga.

PITLOCK, Skip — LHP

6' 3" — 215 — L-L

Born 11/6/47 — Chicago, IL

Lee Patrick Pitlock, 27, returned to the major leagues in 1974 for the first time since 1970 when he was with the San Francisco Giants. He earned the return by pacing all White Sox pitchers in the 1974 Spring Training Exhibition Games with a 1.49 earned run average, including 17 strikeouts in 18 innings pitched. He made 40 appearances during the regular season while posting a 3-3 record and a 4.43 ERA. Only teammate Terry Forster, among the Sox bullpen pitchers, made more trips (59) to the mound. And, Terry, who led the American League in saves, was the 1974 Fireman of the Year. Skip, as his teammates call him, proved to be the toughest Sox pitcher on the road as he allowed only 51 hits and 19 earned runs in 70 innings for a 2.44 ERA. He also had the lowest ERA on the team, a 1.29, against the Eastern Division Champions, the Baltimore Orioles. He permitted only seven hits and two earned runs in 14 innings while fanning 11 O's. In 5.1 innings against the World Champion Oakland A's, Pitlock allowed only one hit and no runs while striking out six. In 1973, while with Iowa in the American Association (Class AAA), his ratio-per-innings-pitched was outstanding (only 117 hits in 130.2 innings). He also struck out 117 during that period. In four of his six seasons of professional baseball, his hits allowed were less than his innings pitched. Skip has a BS Degree in Advertising Journalism from Southern Illinois University (1965-9) where he lettered three years as a pitcher. He pitched for Lincoln in the Central Illinois Collegiate League in 1967-8 with an 18-10 composite record. He was born in Chicago and raised in Elmhurst, Ill., where he attended Immaculate Conception High, but he now resides in Park Forest, Ill. He was originally signed to a pro pact by San Francisco's Gene Thompson.

RICHARD, Lee — IF

6' 0" — 157 — S-R

Born 9/18/48 — Lafayette, LA

Lee Edward Richard, 26, has exceptional quickness and speed. For example, in his rookie season with the Sox, he scored from second base on a sacrifice fly to defeat the Oakland A's, 2-1. Last season, he scored from first base on a single several times. He is continually trying to improve his worth. For example, to enhance his ability to outrun bunts and slow infield hits, he has been batting from both sides the past two seasons in the minors. Despite this fact, he batted .269 last season at Iowa in the American Association (Class AAA). During the 1973 Florida Winter Instructional League at second base for the Sarasota White Sox, he not only was instrumental in the team leading the league in double plays (50) but he led the loop in stolen bases (31), averaging almost a SB per game. He has an outstanding throwing arm enabling him to play centerfield as well as any position in in the infield. He was a pitcher and shortstop while playing four years at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., where he struck out so many opponents his teammates gave him the nickname "Bee-Bee." His accomplishments in college netted him All-American acclaim. At Lincoln High in Port Arthur, Texas, he also lettered four years in baseball and played one year as an end in football. His hobbies are music, dancing, and bowling. He was signed by Sox scouts Mel Preibisch, Steve Vrablik, and Sam Hairston.

SHARP, Bill — OF

5' 10" — 178 — L-L
Born 1/18/50 — Lima, OH

William Howard Sharp, 25, is one of the most exciting outfielders in the American League. His quick jump on outfield hits enable him to make many diving catches of sinking liners to rob opponents of base hits. He also has a fine arm which opposing players respected in 1974. In 1973, before they learned of his quick release and his "clothesline" throws, he threw out a total of 10 base runners in only 76 games to tie for the team high for outfielder assists. In one game, he leaped to catch one ball inches off the top of the right centerfield wall in Sox Park and doubled the runner off first base. He joined the Sox in June last year and promptly hit .360 for the month to help the Sox climb within 2½ games of the first place Oakland A's. Bill hit .526 against the Boston Red Sox and .326 against the Minnesota Twins. Before joining the Sox last season, he hit .333 for the Iowa Oaks in the American Association (Class AAA). He was an All-American centerfielder and captain of the team while playing two seasons at Ohio State where he was majoring in history. He also played quarterback and safety on OSU's football team. As a prepster at Lima (Ohio) High, he was a standout in all three major sports. He was captain of the baseball (CF-P) and football squads (QB) and made All-State in both. He was named Most Valuable Player in the Ohio All-Star Baseball Game. Bill was signed to a pro contract in 1971 by Sox special assignment scout Fred Shaffer.

1/21/47 — Battle Creek, MI

William Allen Stein, 28, made a fine showing in thirteen games with the White Sox after an outstanding season for the Iowa Oaks which earned him a berth on the 1974 American Association All-Star Team. He was the top hitter for the Oaks, and ranked third in the association with a .328 batting average. He led the loop with 107 runs, 178 hits, 274 total bases, and was runnerup with eight triples. He fielded .952 for the second slot among third basemen, and paced his peers in that position with 203 assists while playing in 107 games. As a designated hitter, he batted .409. He made two short trips to the majors in 1972 and 1973 for the St. Louis Cardinals, and batted .314 in his first visit. He now possesses a .263 career batting average after batting .279 with the Sox in 1974. As a prepster, he played baseball and basketball, making All-State in baseball. He attended Brevard Junior College and Southern Illinois University, gaining first team All-American status at the latter. Stein was acquired by the White Sox organization last summer from the California Angels' organization for pitcher Steve Blateric. Bill, who resides in Cocoa, Fla., was signed to a pro contract in 1969 by St. Louis scout Joe Mathes.

UPSHAW, Cecil — RHP

6'6" — 205 — R-R

Born 10/22/42 — Spearsville, LA

Cecil Lee Upshaw, Jr., 32, is one of the finer veteran relief pitchers in the majors. He saved six games while toiling in seven games with Cleveland and 36 games with New York in 1974. During his six full seasons with Atlanta, he became a premier relief pitcher in the National League. He recorded 11 saves in 1968, 25 in 1969, and 17 in 1971. He is one of the better control pitchers in professional baseball. He has a career average of only 2.72 walks issued per nine innings pitched. In comparison, the average pitcher in the American League allowed 3.16 walks per nine innings last season. Upshaw was an outstanding baseball and basketball player at Bossier City (La.) High School. In 1960, Scholastic Magazine named him to the All-American High School Basketball Team. He received a B.S. Degree in Business from Centenary College at Shreveport where he was All-Louisiana in baseball and basketball. He led his college cage unit in scoring as a junior, topped the baseball team in hitting, and posted the best ERA as a senior. Cecil was once a weekly newspaper columnist for a Shreveport paper. His hobbies are golf and table tennis. He was recommended to the Braves in 1964 by Mel Didier and Scotty Robertson.

VARNEY, Pete — C

6′ 2″ — 215 — R-R
Born 4/10/49 — Roxbury, MA

Richard Fred Varney, Jr., 25, has all the traits of being a major league catcher. He is big, strong, stocky, intelligent, has an excellent throwing arm, and can hit with power. For example, he belted 16 home runs and had 72 runs-batted-in in only 96 games last season with the Iowa Oaks of the American Association (Class AAA). In 105 games with the Oaks in 1973, "Pete" slammed 18 over the fence. He made it to the big leagues fast after being graduated at Harvard University. In fact, he only had 249 minor league games under his belt when he made the big jump. His ability to handle pitchers is confirmed by the fact the Iowa pitching staff finished second both years he was there. Varney, in 1972 while with Tucson of the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA), led the catchers with a .989 fielding percentage. At Harvard, where he obtained BA and BS Degrees in history, he was a catcher on the baseball team and a tight end on the football squad. In high school at Deerfield (Mass.) Academy, he lettered three years in baseball, football, and basketball. He was signed to a pro pact by Sox scouts Grover "Deacon" Jones, Bennie Huffman, and Hugh Mulcahy.

WOOD, Wilbur — LHP

6′ 0″ — 190 — R-L
Born 10/22/41 — Cambridge, MA

Wilbur Forrest Wood, Jr., 33, became the first White Sox pitcher in the 74-year history of the club to win 20-or-more games for four consecutive seasons. He won 20 in 1974, 24 in 1973 and 1972, and 22 in 1971 for a total of 90 in four years as a starter. Only two other White Sox pitchers have ever won 20 games or more in three consecutive seasons. Urban "Red" Faber did it in 1920-22 with 23, 25, and 21 wins respectively. Frank Owen was the first Sox hurler to do it with 21 wins in 1904 & 1905, and with 20 in 1906. Wood has been selected to receive the 1974 American Legion Baseball Graduate of the Year Award. In 1974, Wood led the team in complete games (22), innings pitched (320.1), and strikeouts (169). The latter ranked 11th in the American League. He was the most effective hurler on the team the first third of the season posting a 10-6 record. He was most successful in 1974 against Baltimore (2.22 ERA) and Kansas City (2.82). Against Texas, he fanned 17 in 22.2 innings. He has excellent control despite the fact his primary pitch is a knuckleball. Since 1971 when Manager Chuck Tanner converted him into a starter, he pitched a total of 1,390.2 innings and walked only 307 batters for an exceptionally low average of only 1.99 per nine innings pitched. Woody has a deceptive move to first base which enabled him to pickoff 10 runners in 1974 and 14 in 1972. No pitcher in the majors won more games than Wood in 1973, and his 24 victories in 1972 tied Gaylord Perry of Cleveland for the the most wins in the American League. In the latter season, he started 49 games to tie the Sox record set by Ed Walsh in 1908. This record, his 24 wins, and his 2.51 earned run average earned him recognition by The Sporting News as the A.L. Pitcher of the Year. He was chosen as a member of the 1974 American League All-Star Team for the fourth consecutive season. Wood holds that AL record for most games pitched (88 in 1968) when he won the AL Fireman of the Year Award. In 1972, he also led the league pitchers in wins, games started (49), batters faced (1,384), assists (82), and total chances (95). He led the Pacific Coast League in complete games with 19 in 1964 and the International League in complete games (15) and shutouts (8) in 1966. He lettered three years in football, hockey, and baseball at Belmont High in Lexington, Mass. His hobby is fishing. He was originally signed to a pro contract by Neil Mahoney of the Red Sox.

YANCY, Hugh — IF

5' 11" — 175 — R-R

Born 10/16/50 — Sarasota, FL

Hugh Yancy, Jr., 24, has batted .289 in Class AAA competition over the past two years. Last season he hit .287, including 25 doubles and six home runs, in 122 games. In 1973, he led the Iowa Club regulars with a .292 batting average, in runs scored (92), hits (156), and was runnerup for the Eastern Division champs of the American Association (Class AAA) in doubles (29) and stolen bases (12). His exciting performance at the plate and at second base gained him the MVP Award at Iowa in 1973. He also played second base for Estrella in the Dominican Republic Winter League. He also hit over .290 in 1972 while with Knoxville of the Southern League (Class AA) and stole his six-year professional career high of 41 bases. Although he played in only 66 games with Duluth-Superior in 1970, he paced the Northern League (Class A) with 22 stolen bases while hitting .333. He has always guarded the plate well, striking out only nine times in 182 at bats in his first year of pro ball (1968). In 1971 while playing for Asheville in the Southern League (Class AA), he fanned only 19 times in over 535 appearances for an average of only one strike out every 28 trips to the plate. In two seasons in the American Association (Class AAA), while facing some outstanding pitching, he struck out only 89 times in 1,127 trips to the plate. He is a fine defensive infielder as substantiated by the fact he led the Southern League third basemen in 1971 in games (123), putouts (97), assists (274), and doubleplays (32). He played errorless ball during his three games at third base for the White Sox in 1972. He lettered four years as a shortstop at Sarasota High where he was elected captain and most valuable player. As a guard in basketball, he played on the Florida State All-Star Team for three years. His hobbies are fishing, dancing, and music appreciation. He was signed by Sox scout Walt Widmayer.

Yancey (Cont'd)

White Sox Minor Leagues in Review

The White Sox Farm Department, with C. V. Davis in his first year as Farm Director, has reasons to be proud of its accomplishments in 1974. The affiliates finished with the third best composite won and lost record in the major leagues.

The Iowa Club, then the Class AAA affiliate, finished second in the American Association with a 74-62 mark.

Knoxville defeated Jacksonville for the Southern League (Class AA) Championship after winning the Western Division with a 72-63 record under Manager of the Year Jim Napier.

Appleton finished third in the first half, but roared back to win the Northern Division of the Midwest League (Class A) in the second half. The Foxes, with Gordie Lund managing for the first time in his baseball career, finished with a combined mark of 73-50 after a blistering 47-18 pace in the second half.

Sarasota, the only Sox club to finish under .500 in 1974, slipped to a sixth place conclusion in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) with a 23-26 record. However, Joe Jones—who managed in the Florida Winter Instructional League (FWIL) as well as the Gulf Coast League—led Sarasota back with a 26-21 record for a second place mark in the FWIL.

It was a banner year for several White Sox minor leaguers in 1974. Outfielder Joe Talley, who led the loop with 105 walks and batted fifth in the American Association with a .326 mark, was one of the kingpins on the Iowa Club which led the loop in batting with a .293 team average. Talley also belted 18 home runs. He was named to the 1974 American Association All-Star Team and voted the Association's Player of the Year.

Teammate Bill Stein, who only made 13 errors while handling 259 chances at the hot corner, was third in the Association bat race with a .328 batting average to earn a berth on the Class AAA All-Star Team and the American Association All-Star Team. He hit. 279 in 13 games with the major league club in September.

First baseman Lamar Johnson, who slammed 20 homers and batted in 96 runs for Iowa in 1974, hit .301 and stole 10 of 12 bases to also gain a spot on the American Association All-Star Team. He hit .345 in 10 games for the White Sox in September.

Nyls Nyman, a 20-year-old outfielder, was named Southern League Player of the Year after pacing the circuit in batting (.325), hits (166), runs (87), and triples (9). He also stole 24 of 29 bases before joining the White Sox in September where he startled the big league fans with a .643 batting average in five games. Needless to say he was named on the 1974 Class AA All-Star Team, and the Southern League All-Star Team along with teammates Mike Squires (.287) at first base and Pete Williams (13-9, 2.66 ERA) on the mound.

The scouts of the White Sox, which is the only team in the American League not in the major league scouting combine, who received personalized citations as Topps' Scouts-of-the-Month were: Bruce Andrew, Bill Lentini, Dario Lodigiani (twice), and West Coast Supervisor Gary Johnson.

The second Glen Miller Award presented annually to the White Sox Man of the Year was given to minor league pitching coach Hugh Mulcahy for his outstanding achievements in developing young pitchers. The first award was presented to Sam Hairston.

Sox Radio-TV Team

Harry Caray and Bill Mercer will again broadcast all 162 games on the White Sox radio network on Chicago's most powerful station, WMAQ Radio 67. It will be Caray's 30th season as a major league baseball announcer and his fifth year in the White Sox booth. All of his previous experience, except one year with the Oakland A's, was calling the play-by-play for the St. Louis Cardinals. Mercer, in his second year with the Sox, was the number one play-by-play announcer and broadcast supervisor on radio and television for the Texas Rangers in 1972 and 1973. He announced the Dallas Cowboys football games from 1965 through 1971, and taught radio, television, and journalism courses as an assistant professor of speech at North Texas State University.

J. C. Martin will be a permanent fixture in the television booth in 1975. Martin, who gave up a coaching position with the Chicago Cubs to begin a new career in the announcing field, will provide the Chicagoland fans with a player's view of the action on the field. Martin is well known in the area as he spent all but two of his 14 years playing for the White Sox (1959-67) and the Cubs (1970-72). He played for the New York Mets in 1968 and 1969. He started his major league career as a third and first baseman, but was shifted to catcher his fourth season. He became an outstanding backstop, and was one of the few catchers who successfully handled the fluttering knuckle balls of Hoyt Wilhelm and Wilbur Wood. Caray, Mercer and Martin will announce a total of 125 games over WSNS-TV, Channel 44, with WGN Continental Broadcasting Company handling production.
